Tracy-Douglas
Wedding Pretty
Event of SeasonFollowing Ceremony at Bride's Home, Reception Is Held at University Club

Summery in all its appointments, the pretty wedding of Miss Della Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Tracy and Clarence Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas, took place last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 211 Twenty-first street.

The wedding took place at 7 o'clock, the ceremony being performed by M. S. Marriott. Attended by a large bridal party, the bride and groom, were escorted to the bower, arranged in the lovely Tracy home. Only the members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony.

With baskets of shasta daisies and Richmond roses, the home was an artistic setting for the wedding. In a corner of one of the rooms a bower of shasta daisies, combined with ferns and Richmond roses, was arranged. Extending from the bower, loops of flowers reached out to the walls, surrounding the bride and groom.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of ivory satin, and rose point lace, with a wedding veil caught and held in place by orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Mrs. J. W. Piddock attended the bride as matron of honor. She was costumed in a lovely creation of silk net over pink satin, with touches of blue tulle. She wore a large silver lace picture hat and carried roses. Miss Lois Marriott, maid of honor, was dressed in blue organza wearing a hat of silver lace and carrying a bouquet of roses. Miss Vera Tracy, who attended as bridesmaid, wore a charming gown of pink silk net over silver lace with a hat to match. Arch Mayes assisted at the ceremony as best man.

The two little attendants, Miss Helen Leavitt, flower girl, and Miss Margaret Piddock, ringbearer, were examples of extreme daintiness. Little Miss Leavitt wore a frock of pink organza and carried a basket of Richmond roses combined with shasta daisies. Little Miss Margaret wore a gown of white silk net over pink satin.

Following the wedding ceremony, the couple were escorted to the University club rooms, where a wedding reception was held. The rooms, elaborately decorated with a wealth of fragrant Richmond roses and shasta daisies, presented a picture of grace and beauty. Congratulations, good wishes and gifts were showered upon the bride and groom. Receiving with the bride party were Mrs. William Douglas, mother of the groom, Mrs. Douglas Swan of Salt Lake, and Mrs. Georgiana Marriott.

In the dining room, a large table, centered with a charming wicker basket of roses and daisies, was arranged. The handle of the basket was adorned with a butterfly box of maline. Stately candlesticks were also arranged around the table. Presiding over the coffee and dining the evening were Mrs. Robert Moore of Salt Lake, Mrs. Joseph M. Tracy, Mrs. Miriam Reed, Miss Lillian O'Neill, Mrs. Robert Boyd and Miss Myrtle Anderson. Assisting at the service of the bride party were Miss Elizabeth Browning, Miss Geraldine O'Neill and Miss Florence Turner. About two hundred guests called during the evening.

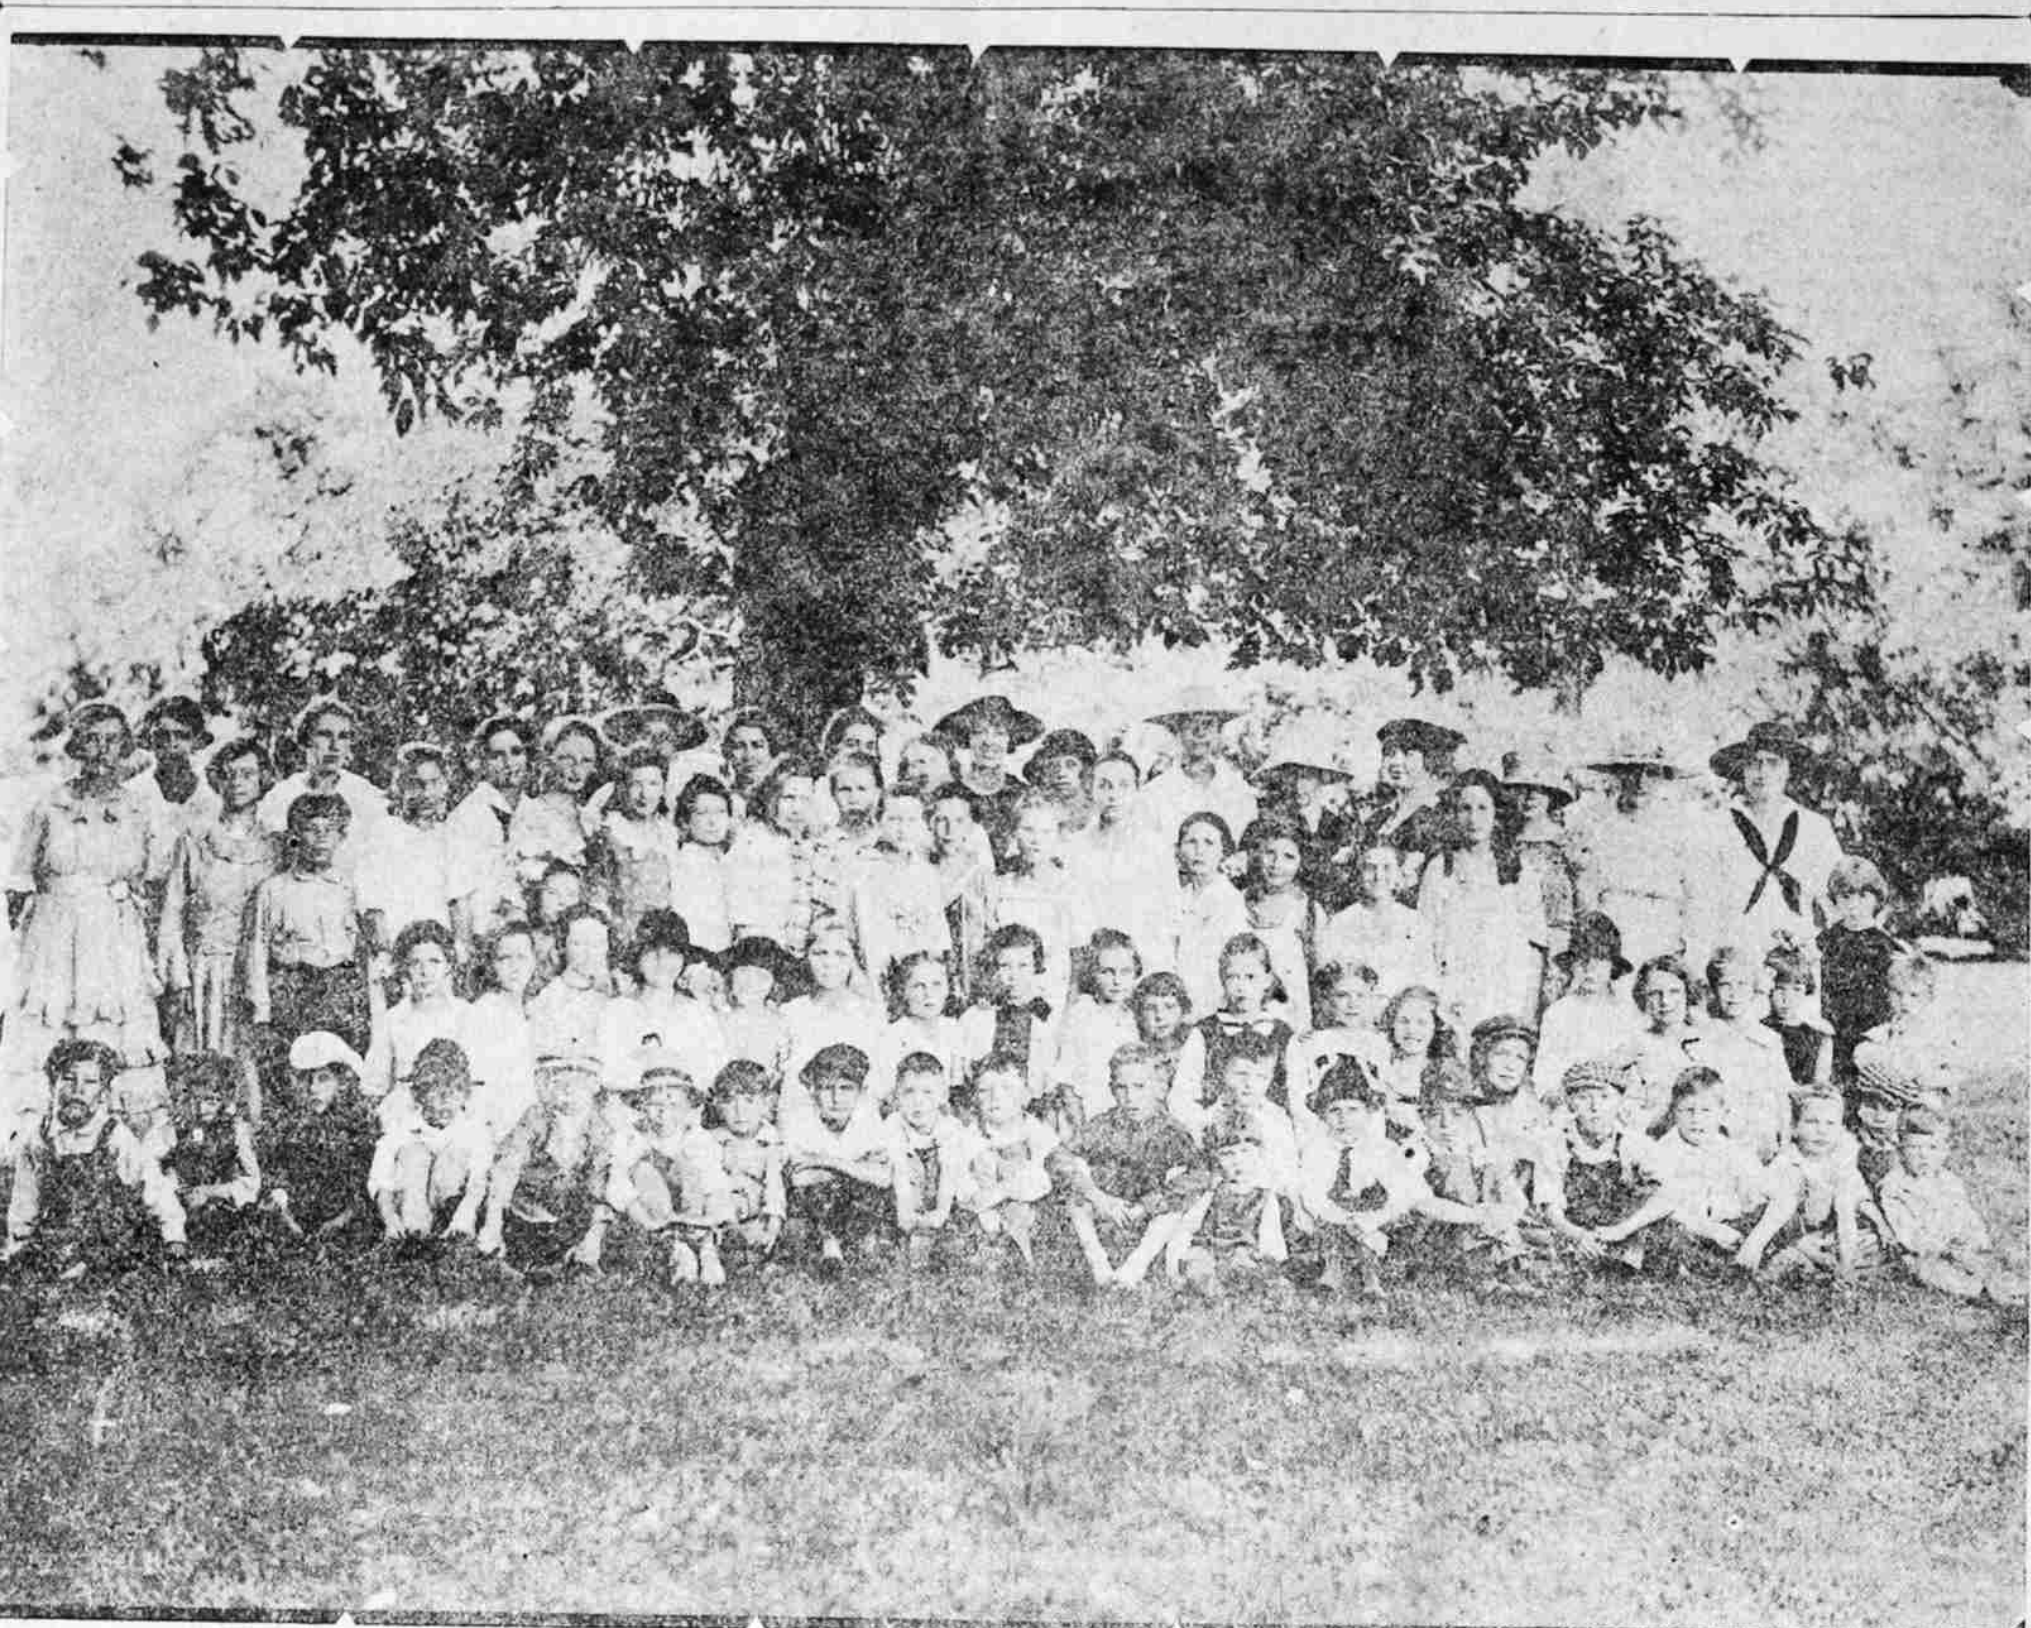

Mrs. Douglas is one of the most prominent and one of the best known members of the younger set of the city. She was graduated from the Weber Normal college a few years ago. She is well beloved by a large number of friends. Her husband, Clarence Douglas, is a prominent member of the young set of Ogden, having had connections with the athletic clubs of Ogden High school. The two departed for their honeymoon late Wednesday evening. On their return they will make their home in Salt Lake where they will be at home to their friends.

Mrs. F. J. Farver of 422 Twenty-first street was hostess to the members of the C. E. C. club last Thursday afternoon at her home. The usual business meeting was held, after which the social hour was enjoyed. A dainty luncheon was served to the guests present. A cut-glass bowl of roses and ferns formed the pretty centerpiece for the table. Dainty place cards were laid for the following: Mrs. E. C. Osborne, Mrs. F. J. Van Ness, Mrs. Paul Franke, Mrs. W. H. Spence, Mrs. H. J. Bishop, Mrs. J. D. Taylor, Mrs. F. Farver and Mrs. E. E. Heintzelman. Mrs. W. L. Martel of Portland, Ore., was the guest for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Taylor were hostess to a number of friends at a luncheon given in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Clark, of Eugene, Utah, and Mrs. C. Cuddeback, of Salina, Utah, and Mrs. V. Nelson and daughter Eva of Salt Lake, who were Ogden guests for a time. The luncheon was given at the residence of Mrs. Taylor, 214 Jefferson avenue. Mrs. F. E. Heintzelman also complimented the guests Sunday afternoon at a dinner, during the late afternoon the party motored up Ogden canyon and other points of interest.

Featured as one of the most enjoyable and altogether pleasing events of the last week was Old Folks' Day, held last Tuesday, June 29, at Lorin Park. Well cared for by a number of committees, the old folks spent one of the most delightful days celebrated during the fifty years that the event has been observed. Over two hundred old folks gathered for the occasion, and were treated well to the hospitality of Ogden residents, who also gathered for the occasion. A most delightful program was given during the afternoon, composed of hand numbers, readings, quartet numbers, boxing features by the little folks, and bagpipe tunes. Assisting committees within their power to make the occasion one of long remembrance to all. The old folks were conveyed from their home to the various grounds by the members of the various wards in autos and were again returned in the afternoon. Old folks who had passed the nineteenth milestone, were present with white bouquets, while folks under ninety and between the years of eighty and ninety wore blue badges and those between seventy and eighty wore red badges. During the afternoon an elaborate banquet was served. The tables were adorned with roses and other cut flowers, and were laden with a variety of fruits, salads, cakes, deserts, sandwiches and other things.

HERE is a picture which indicates to some extent the interest that progressive Ogden citizens are taking in the efforts to extend community service here. In the group are the boys and girls who are enjoying the organized play as conducted by the experts now in Ogden. The grownups, who are enjoying the play too and taking notes as well also appear in the picture.

Bishop N. A. Tanner, chairman of the Weber Stake and Young Men's association for the day, stated that it was one of the most successful events held in the way of celebrations on "Old Folks' Day," since Mayor Frank Fennell, one of the guests of the afternoon, was delighted with all arrangements. Assisting Bishop Tanner with the arrangements were L. W. Larkin of the Ogden Stake, H. H. Shurtliff of the North Weir, Stake and L. A. Van Dyke, secretary of the occasion.

We had old folks, stated Bishop Tanner, from Ogden, from Hooper, Brigham, North Ogden, Huntsville, Plain City, Riverdale and Clearfield. I believe that the day was one of the most enjoyable for everyone. North Ogden residents who participated in the day's events included old folks of eighty or more who enjoyed the day to the fullest extent. The committee who arranged the occasion for them were E. J. Marshall, George Campbell, Martha E. Campbell, Albina Campbell, serving as table waiters were Victoria Marshall, Flora Deamer, Ada Garner, Mary Ward, Eliza A. Randall, Emily Linford, Elizabeth Wright, and Mary E. Randall, those who enjoyed the afternoon and who were over eighty years old were John Fleida, James Ward, Isabel Cazier, Richard T. Berrett, John Woodfield, Rachel Chalmers, William Hill and Benjamin Alvord. Loyal W. White, who spent ten days in Ogden visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. White, has returned to his home in Cleveland, Idaho. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Genevieve White, who will spend several weeks as the guest of her brother.

Mrs. O. E. McMullen and her little daughter, Joyce, returned Monday to their home in Salt Lake, after a visit spent with Mrs. McMullen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Fulton.

Miss Ada Griswold, secretary of the Home Service Bureau of the Red Cross and Miss Lorna Jenkins left Monday for the Columbia university, New York, where they will take a summer course in Red Cross work. Before returning to Ogden they will visit Boston, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago and a number of other eastern cities.

Mrs. Georgiana Marriott has returned from a two-months' trip through Idaho and Montana, where she conducted "Poppy Drives" for the relief of the children of the devastated section of France. She was assisted by Madame Guerin, who is interested in the relief work. Mrs. Marriott is state organizer for Idaho of the American and French children's league.

Mrs. Robert Boyd entertained at a bridge luncheon in compliment to Miss Della Tracy, bride of the week. Tuesday afternoon at her home on Twenty-fifth street, luncheon was served at 1:30 o'clock, covers being laid for fifteen guests. Red roses in glass baskets formed the decorations for the home. Three tables of cards were enjoyed with honors awarded to Miss Della Tracy.

Miss Priscilla Stratford entertained last week at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Ardella Hokanson, a summer bride. The evening was spent in games and the opening of many beautiful and useful articles which the guests of honor received. At the midnight hour a very delicious luncheon was served, the dining room being decorated with pink and white washes. The centerpiece was a basket filled with rose buds and baby breath tied with a large bow of pink maline. The reception room and sitting room were decorated with deep red roses.

Miss Lael White of Valparaiso, Indiana, is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. H. E. Silmer, 2443 Adams avenue.

Support Grows
For Community
Service HereChildren and Grownups Interested in Work of Grass Play
Expert in Ogden

Community service in Ogden has taken an advance step this week in the commencement of grass play for children in two of the city parks. This is the beginning of an effort to inaugurate a summer work that will extend to other activities in the near future. At present there are two national workers in Ogden for the summer months and it is expected that at least another will be secured to give considerable time to the local work.

Community Service began in Ogden last July. It was then associated with the War Camp Community Service and club rooms were opened in the University club. Here John Edward Carver was assisted by Miss Mildred Barton and W. L. Thomas and during the last summer the activities consisted of a series of receptions to the returned service men. These parties were given on the streets and people all remember the delightful evenings when old and young thronged the brilliantly lighted streets and such was the success of these events that the national committee decided to continue the work here.

After the University club was vacated it was impossible to secure other quarters for some time but the first of this year the Matrons and Matrons' rooms were leased and plans made for continued work. The outbreak of influenza placed a ban on evening entertainments and when the ban was lifted the time of the appropriation had expired.

Coasting parties given on Twenty-sixth street last week were the only form of activity the local committee was able to carry out but steps were taken to secure trained leaders for the summer months and last week Miss Josephine Randall was secured for organized grass play and club work.

This grass play started Thursday morning in Lester park and Thursday evening in City Hall park. At each of these first meetings there were a goodly number of children in attendance.

What was even more gratifying was the number of older ones who joined the play study classes held in Madison school building from nine to eleven in the morning.

In all this work the most valuable assistance has been given by Commissioner Flygare and the city commissioners. They have readily co-operated in every way to aid in the success. Superintendent Hopkins has also granted the use of the school building for the class work and all bids fair for the securing of a large number of children in organized play ere the first week ends.

Friday Mr. Arbury arrived from Portland to give six weeks or two months to the Ogden Community Service work. Mr. Arbury is field expert for the northwest and has been very successful in his work in Portland where he conducted the community activities for several months. His time has been donated as well as that of Miss Randall by the national headquarters in order to give Ogden a chance to try the grass play at its best. The form of activities other than children's play has not been definitely decided but several plans are now considered for the summer in charge and one of them is the holding of a municipal week under the leadership of Mr. Bradford, national community song director. Mr. Bradford is the recognized leader of the song work in the entire country for the past four years.

The committee in charge of the local Community Service includes Ralph Bristol, A. P. Bigelow, John Watson, Warren L. Watts, P. T. Wright, A. H. Heywood, Frank L. Briggs, John Cullip, E. P. Porter and E. E. Porter with John Edward Carver as executive secretary.

The grass play will continue under the direction of Miss Randall during the month of July, meeting in Lester park mornings at 11 o'clock and in City Hall park evenings at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Kate Toponce, past worthy grand matron of the first chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, formed twenty-one years ago in Ogden, entertained other past worthy grand matrons of the lodge Friday afternoon at the Masonic temple at an afternoon luncheon. Both officers of the lodge, chapter and of the Queen Esther chapter and of the Queen Esther chapter were present for the afternoon. A delightful entertainment was given for the enjoyment of all those present, including numbers from Mrs. Henry Stevens, Margaret Spargo and Mrs. Sims. Little Miss Francis Foster entertained with a piano solo. At 5 o'clock a luncheon was served in the dining room. Three tables were attractively arranged with each table centered with a basket of rambler roses, combined prettily with ferns and Baby Breath. Extending from each basket across the table, two rows of roses were arranged in a cross. Other small bouquets, placed around the room, which were also laden with red rambler roses and Baby Breath. Tiny silk flags were used as favors.

Red, white and blue bannets were used to adorn the room. Over the doorway, an array of bunting was draped and held in place by small flags. In the center of the room, extending from the chandelier to parts of the ceiling, streamers of red, white and blue crepe paper were hung in a brilliant canopy. After an afternoon of social enjoyment, luncheon was served to the following guests: Minnie Hasket, Elsie Radcon, Edna Nichols, Eva F. Cooney, Kate Smethers, Mary F. Whitmore, Mamie Stevens, Elizabeth Halstead, Minnie Parker, Nevada Cook, Lola Blackman, Ora B. Lanyer, Katherine Vicks, Myrtle Chapman, Anna E. Epperson, Eunice Bowman, Margaret Spargo, Jane A. Putman, Amelia Roberts, Lucy Johnson, Josephine Cullough, Mary Heard, Lillian Carmen, Lottis King, Margaret Craven, Mrs. Davis, Miss Edna Hamill, Edith Gibson, Helen Petersen, M. M.
